Wrongful Death Representation in North Carolina

The attorneys at StephensonLaw know the devastating impact of the death of a loved one or those seriously injured due to the wrongful acts or negligence of others. We have represented families and individuals for over 25 years in over 50 counties throughout North Carolina. With substantial experience in the federal courts as well as our state courts, our attorneys have tried multi-million dollar cases to verdict. The experience that StephensonLaw brings to the table in the handling of these important cases is only rivaled by few firms in this state. At StephensonLaw, helping our clients through this emotional and difficult time is our priority. We strive to see that our client's rights are asserted and their stories are expertly told in the courtrooms.
