

Catastrophic Car Wreck Injuries: Here's What You Should Know

August 30, 2016
By Philip T. Gray

Catastrophic Car Wreck Injuries: Here's What You Should Know

Car accidents are never expected and can happen instantly and without warning ? potentially changing life as you know it. Car accidents can have a very real and very significant physical, emotional, and financial impact on your life.

That impact may entitled you to compensation after a car accident. You deserve to be made whole.

Type of Catastrophic Injuries

Catastrophic injuries are those that generally render you unable to make a living or substantially restrict your ability to work, almost always resulting in a permanent disability rating from a medical professional. This may include, but is not limited to:

- Paralysis or Spinal Injury
- Traumatic Brain Injury
- Severe Burns
- Loss of Limb(s)
- Severe Bone Breaks/Fractures

Lost Wages, Medical Bills, and Pain/Suffering

Car accidents resulting in catastrophic injuries can entitle you to substantial compensation, including lost wages from the job you had at the time of the accident, reduced or eliminated future earning capacity, medical bills related to the accident, permanent impairment, and the non-economic damages known as "pain and suffering."

Don't Go it Alone

The attorneys of StephensonLaw are experienced in working with individuals who have suffered severe and permanent injuries from car accidents. Your needs are the top priority. If you are ready to discuss your claim, contact us as soon as possible for a free consultation.